

Figure 1: The female pin holes in black are where headers will connect the Pi to the battery shim. All other color-coded connections are for the purpose of connecting the sensor to the Pi.